

After settling your mind a bit, read this analogy slowly and let the image sink in—not to dwell on it, but to see how it impacts your consciousness.

Imagine your mind is like a mirror, crystal clear, reflecting only what comes in front of it. No opinion, no clinging, no aversion—just pure reflection of reality exactly as it is. Rest your mind like a mirror that purely reflects what is right here in front of you.